Happiest High School Memories ... The time I spent involved with American Field Service and the JCOWA (Junior Council on World Affairs). Through my involvement with these organizations I met many people from other countries (including our AFS student, Juan Lara). I took several trips to Washington, DC and New York City and then to Europe. I also had the opportunity through these organizations (as well as through the Luther League at my church) to serve in leadership roles and to begin to learn about being a leader. All of these experiences really "expanded my horizons" and opened my eyes to the many possibilities and opportunities that life offers.

Most Embarrassing ... Nothing comes to mind, though it is certainly possible that I have repressed some terrible experience.

Any Regrets ... No, definitely not.

So ... what have I been doing since our 5 years ago? ... So many things!! At our last reunion I was in the midst of taking a sabbatical, after having resigned as the VP, HR for Baldwin Piano in Cincinnati. At our reunion I got "reunited" with Juan Lara and accepted his generous invitation to visit him and his family in Argentina. In November 1998 I spent several delightful weeks visiting Juan, his wife Mary, their five children, and many of his friends and family in Rosario and then going to Buenos Aires. After that, I resumed my search for a challenging and exciting job; and I accepted a job with Cisco Systems in San Jose, CA. It was very challenging, exciting, and interesting ... until I was among the 8500 people that Cisco laid off in June, 2001. Though I had a couple of offers on the West Coast, I ultimately decided that I wanted to move back to the Midwest. My wonderful brother and his family offered to let me live with them while I looked for a job in Minneapolis or Chicago. I ended up finding a job in Madison, WI, as the head of HR for a private biotech company. I had a great experience working there; but, after the death of my mother this past February, I decided it was time to pursue another long-standing dream. That dream, which I have held since I went to business school 20+ years ago, was to return to the non-profit or education sector at some point late in my career (which I have come to realize is NOW) and try to use my skills to "make a difference" in the world. And so in June, 2003, I joined a program called New Leaders for New Schools (www.nlins.org). I have spent the summer in Washington, DC, attending the NLNS Summer Foundations Institute. Starting at the end of August I will be an apprentice principal at a K-8 school in Chicago called the Stowe Fine and Performing Arts Academy. Hopefully, in the fall of 2004, I will be a principal at an existing Chicago public school or I will be involved in starting a charter school. I am very excited about being back in Chicago and about the many challenges that lie ahead!

hi.....I will be unable to attend reunion unless I happen to be in Ohio at that time. Plse send me a copy of completed biographies—one of the few people I have run into over the year is Jerry Collett—at one of his plays in NYC! and I see Irvin Moscovitz and Dan Miller when I'm in Ohio (friends of my brother)

Here's the info you requested: Beth A. Harlan, husband is Robert Kauffman, PO Box 872, Sheffield, Ma. 01257. Phone & Fax: 413-229-0029, beth.harlan@verizon.net. Happiest memories—being a scotchette, psychology class, dating Rick Lewellyn! Most embarrassing—losing to YOU in student council election! any regrets?—

2 yrs ago my husband, son (Zachariah Harlan Warner—age 17, senior at Salisbury School in Salisbury, CT.) and I moved over the Ct. line to Sheffield, Ma. I am a licensed clinical social worker in Ct. and Mass. Had a fabulous 50th birthday party with the band "Brave Combo"—they won best polka cd at grammy's (although more like jimmy hendrix than lawrence welk!!)—got remarried 5 yrs ago to Robert Kauffman (Yale class of 68—yes, Dubya was a classmate). I work as a social worker for the Jewish Federation of the Berkshires.

I'll send you a current photo of my family in next few days.

Looking forward to hearing about other 68 graduates. Hope you are doing well.

Sincerely,

Beth Harlan

Husband: deceased

High school memory: Mr. Sydor and Latin class. I met his daughter a couple of years ago and shared ridiculous stories about him.

I work at the University of Dayton in Human Resources and recently finished my second degree -- this one strictly classes I enjoyed. I am a grandmother (yikes!) with a second one on the way (are we really 53??!!)

High School Memories...

Happiest My entire Senior year. I loved the subjects I was taking, the new Cola Cottage, my friends, etc.

Most Embarrassing During an assembly some students were doing a comedy routine on stage that I thought extremely funny. Everyone did - only everyone else got over it. I couldn't quit.

Any Regrets? Not really.

So... what have you been doing since our last reunion 5 years ago?

My daughter graduated from the University of Dayton, my twin sons graduated from Centerville High School, and my husband retired from Wright-Patterson AFB all in 2002 so that was a big year for me. My sons are attending Wright State, and my husband and I

Any Regrets? not doing gymnastics

So... what have you been doing since our last reunion 5 years ago?

...much the same - teaching multihandicapped
students (Dayton Public Schools), gardening, cooking, shopping - stuff. I retired from teaching this past June - so now I have more time to do fun stuff. I think I have it mastered by now!

High School Memories....

Happiest: Lunch at the Mascot was always a culinary delight; it's a wonder that I still have the lining to my stomach. Then, of course there were all those stimulating conversations with the hoods and greasers about bras, panties, the pool hall, Taryton cigarettes, and Budweiser or cherry vodka. I never understood what the late, Ms Dottie Herbst meant by the "Nobles Oblige" until I met these characters. So, between my morning cigarette with our future titans of industry and my afternoon cigarette after a grueling hour with Mr. Mumma in Algebra II, I would have to say that luncheon dining was my happiest time at "Friendly" Fairview.

Most Embarrassing: Having been a little overweight in my Sophomore year, our Gym teacher, Mr. Gene Winters would always match the boys up for wrestling. The category selection was naturally by weight. So, once again I got the rare privilege of being beaten to a pulp by the same rabble from the Mascot that I would later see at lunch. At least there I could use my gift of BS, and avoid any violence. Nonetheless, this one time, I was determined to go the full 3 periods, and actually succeeded. It was at the end of that final period, when I was feeling proud to have just hung in there, that 'ole Gene called everyone to listen-up so that he could explain to everyone how Buddy Kahn had just wasted the entire class's time for several minutes ducking and squirming, without any intention of wrestling this Godzilla. With that, he finally said that I was the world champion of worms, and should never wrestle again. You know, to this day I have never been in a fight again. Thank God for my gift of BS.

Any Regrets: I can honestly say that I enjoyed my four years at FHS, and enjoyed most everyone, there. However, if I had it to do over, I would have avoided the few braggarts and social-climbers that we all had to tolerate through these important, developing years. Too many of us paid far too much homage to the cool, pretentious snobs of our class. As Jimmy Stewart said in the movie, Harvey, "to make it in this world you have to be oh, so clever or oh, so pleasant; I choose pleasant." I have pleasant memories of most, not all.

The last 5 years: My beautiful wife, Linda and I will celebrate 25 wonderful years of marriage when we go to Las Vegas in November for our anniversary. My son, Andrew is now 14 ½ and will begin his freshman year of high school in September, at Miami Valley School. He is a great kid, and just passed me in height-probably not the greatest achievement he'll ever attain. We were very proud of him a year ago, last May when he celebrated his Bar Mitzvah with so many of our relatives and friends. I was happy to have some of my former Fairview class-mates there with us. We have lived in our beautiful home in Butler Twp. for the past nine years, and consider ourselves so fortunate to have lots of wonderful friends in the neighborhood. Because of my difficult treatment for Hepatitis C in 2001, I stepped down as chief of financial services at Wright Pat. In

'02, after treatment I was given a clean bill of health. Luckily, I continue to work out there as financial analyst for the Communications Center. I have now been with the Air Force for almost 24 years. Linda continues her position at Penny Ohlmann Neiman Advertising as the Vice President of Media. We are truly blessed and look forward to retirement once Andrew is through school, but will remain working here in town until then. After that, who knows, maybe Fla. or Las Vegas.

Dayton native portrays air pioneer

Connie Tobias flying career of Harriet Quimby

By TIMOTHY R. GAFFNEY
tgaffney@DaytonDailyNews.com

DAYTON — “Contact!”

Seated in the boxy cockpit of a 1910-model Bleriot XI, Harriet Quimby turns the starter switch. At the front of the delicate, dragonfly-like airplane, Mikael Carlson gives a tug on its twin-bladed propeller.

The Bleriot’s Gnome engine barks to life and buzzes with a loud, sharp rasp.

The propeller wash blows off the hood of Quimby’s flashy, custom-made, purple satin flying suit. Her golden scarf flaps in the wind. Onlookers surrounding the buzzing plane snap pictures. Quimby, looking over the airplane’s delicate wing, gives a big smile and waves a leather-gloved hand.

This scene might have been at an air carnival in 1912, the year Quimby flew a Bleriot across the English Channel. But it happened Thursday morning at Dayton International Airport, in front of the Women in Aviation International tent at the Vectren Dayton Air Show. And it’s scheduled to be a daily event.

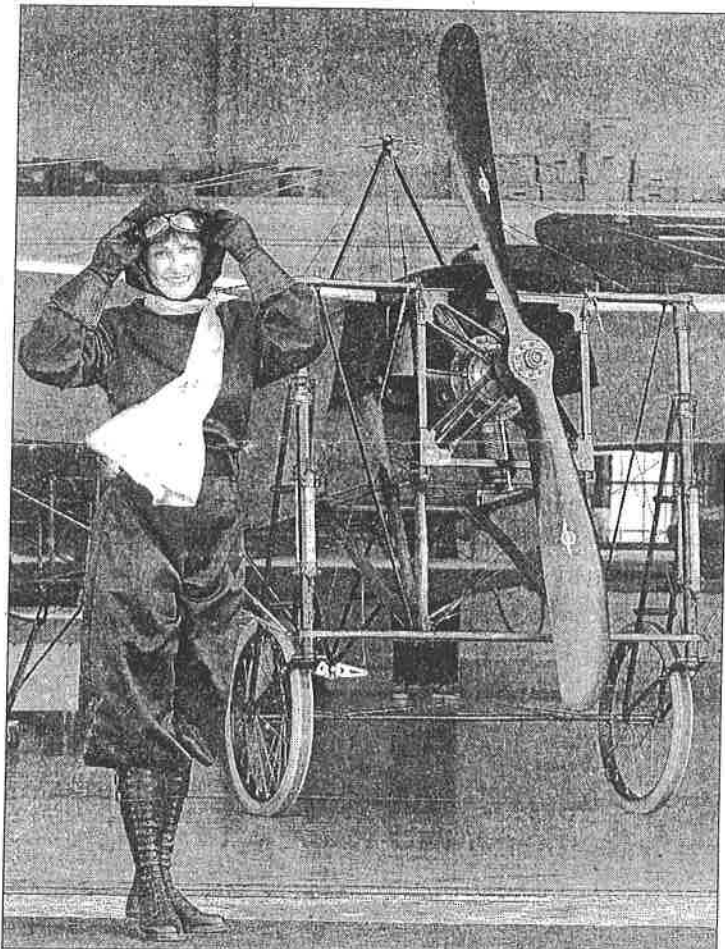

The woman in the purple suit wasn’t Quimby — a flying accident claimed her in 1912 — but Connie Tobias, an Ohio native and USAIRWAYS PILOT.

Tobias, who now lives in the southeastern United States, combines Harriet Quimby re-enactments with motivational speaking to raise money for an educational fund she started, the Harriet Quimby Scholarship Fund for male or female aviation students at Ohio University, Tobias’ alma mater.

“We are honoring our pioneer aviators,” she said. “With our scholarship and with the motivational speaking, we are really touching young people.”

Portraying an early air pioneer in Dayton’s centennial of flight air show was a great way to return to her hometown, Tobias said after climbing down from the Bleriot.

“I was excited about coming back home and doing it here and being a part of this,” she said.

TY GREENLEES/DAYTON DAILY NEWS

PILOT CONNIE TOBIAS plays Harriet Quimby, the first American woman to become a licensed pilot, at the Vectren Dayton Air Show.

Carlson flew the Bleriot Thursday morning in concert with the Wright “B” Flyer, a look-alike of the first airplane the Wright brothers built in quantity. The single-wing Bleriot made graceful, sweeping turns low over the field in front of the crowd.

Tobias hasn’t flown Carlson’s Bleriot, but she flew a 1909 Bleriot in June 2001. Some four hours in a Bleriot are among the nearly 18,000 hours of flying time Tobias has logged since 1975, when she “sold everything I had” to take flying lessons at Greene County Airport in Xenia.

Tobias wouldn’t reveal her age or the year she graduated from Fairview High School, but she said she grew up in Dayton and had interests in common with the Wright brothers — bicycling and flying.

“In 1975, I was pedaling a 10-speed bicycle from California to Delaware,” she said. Somewhere in the middle of the country, “I turned my head up to take a drink of water and saw an airliner.”

In that instant, she said, she decided that after her bicycle trip she would throw herself into flying lessons and become an airline pilot — something few women did or even tried in those days.

She got a bachelor’s degree in aviation studies at OU and finished the coursework for a master’s degree in engineering. But she quit before writing the thesis she needed to complete her degree.

“I ran off to be an airline pilot,” she said.

She worked her way up from humble flying jobs to her present position, the PILOT of an Airbus 330-300 — “more than half a million pounds of airplane,” she said.

But to learn to fly a Bleriot, she had to draw on the skills she first learned here.

“I went back and got familiar with little planes. I hadn’t flown a taildragger (a plane with a tail-wheel instead of a nosewheel) in 20 years,” she said.

Go Fairview !!!

so our days are boating / fishing / lobstering, riding our beach cruiser bikes around the park, hanging out in the pool, or just relaxing at camp drinking a rum runner.
and taking a nap when we want it, <sup>heaven.</sup>
We pretty much become total beach bums.
Never worrying about what time it is, watching the sunsets — its wonderful.

It feels weird to say I'm over 50, don't feel like it. I found this saying that I intend to live the 2nd half of my life by — it goes like this ....

We don't stop playing because we grow
old;
we grow old because we stop playing.

I truly believe this — we've raised our kids and been through the hard times, now its our time and we plan to enjoy everyday! Life is good!
as long as your having reunions — we will come!

ps: I caught several 5 ft barracuda's — really

High School Memories...

Happiest: My friends getting together, having a boyfriend, Scotchettes, getting my driver's license (freedom), going camping and water skiing.

Most Embarrassing: I was always doing or saying something to embarrass myself!
I remember being very embarrassed the time the Scotchettes did a poor job at a game and we really got reamed out and everyone had to ride the bus back to the school and we had to march to the practice field at about 11:00 p.m. and go through the show. Our band director, (what was his name?!) was really mad. That was very embarrassing. Also, embarrassing and painful, was learning that my boyfriend at the time was carrying another girls books to her next class right after walking me to my class! Oh the pains of young love! What a cad!! Heaven only knows what else I did trying to be cool and failing!

Any Regrets: The only regret I had was that during high school I took a complete "college prep" line of classes knowing that I had no intention of going to university. I missed out on some very cool and interesting subjects - more like enrichment courses - that really could have been fun and possibly useful. Photography was the one offered that I really regret. I would love to learn to develop my own photos. Where I live now, I can't take advantage of night courses at local colleges/universities (we are 2.5 hours from town) and I am not real successful at teaching myself.

The other regret was that I didn't pursue a degree in areas that I am very interested in now. I had a roommate with a son who had a speech problem. I took him to his speech therapy during one summer and found that to be really interesting. I would have liked that. I also have found that I would have liked the medical field. I was a volunteer paramedic for 10 years up here and really loved it. I never thought about that field as a profession. It is a young person's field though. The physical end of it can be quite daunting. The lifting is hard on an ole girl's body! I think I was quite good at that and given more calls/experience I could have become very good.

What have I been doing:

Since I haven't been to a reunion since our 5 year reunion, I have a lot of catching up to do! I think I have sent info in the past but here is a capsulated version of my life! After graduation, I attended Sinclair Community College and graduated 3 years later after co-op through. My major was Executive Secretarial with a medical specialty. I went to work at Standard Register Co., Dayton, OH shortly before I graduated. I worked there for 3 years where I met Bob Evans, Marketing Manager. We dated for a year and then married in 1974. In 1978 he was involved in a very bad head-on collision on I75. During an ice storm in February, a woman travelling south on I75 hit ice and came across the medium strip (no barriers at that time) and hit him head on. After a lengthy recovery, he decided that he really didn't want to return to the stressful job that he had been doing for 20+ years and we began looking for an alternative. He had lived in Canada for 3 years in the late sixties. (no he wasn't a draft dodger!) One of those years he operated a fishing camp on Manitoulin Island and loved it. His wife at that time hated it though, so that didn't work. Anyway, we decided to look into that type of work. After 2 years of looking, we found a nice, clean, tourist camp with a decent financial statement, in the town of Shining Tree, about 475 miles north/east of Toronto. After looking at really dumpy places we jumped at this. Two hours after looking at it, we signed papers to purchase. Then began the interesting experience of immigrating!!!! We moved here 22 years ago last month. We owned/operated our fishing/hunting camp for 21 years quite successfully. We sold June 28, 2002. We now live only two houses away from the camp and have found it a little difficult to live so close. We get quite critical at times and have to stop ourselves from running over and saying "you need to do this / that and do it this way!" My real pat on the back shortly before we changed owners was when a customer told me that they were very sad that we were leaving and that the new owners would have to work very hard because they had some big shoes to fill.

We obviously have a million stories to tell about life in the bush country of Canada but that can't be done here. I'm way to wordy.

During these past 22 years I have done some crazy interesting things. When winter business got very slow, we decided that one of us had to get an outside job. I do better staying up late and I am not as good with machinery as Bob, so we decided that he would stay at the camp and do snow removal, etc. I got a job as a guard at a gold mine 19 miles east of Shining Tree. The nearest town east of us is Gowganda, Ontario which is about 30 miles from Shining Tree. Therefore, I was totally in the middle of nowhere. The day shifts weren't too bad but the night shift was spooky. I did not have a weapon, except my big flashlight, and they turned the generator off at night. Only propane lights, no phone, etc. After one spooky experience I started taking my dog with me. She was a very large black Malemute. She was very sweet but she scared strangers at first. I guess because of her size and being all black. The hours were very long though and I didn't like it much so the next winter I got a job as an off-hours watch person at a lumber mill 20 miles west of Shining Tree. I didn't mind that job, it was to make sure no fires started up when regular shifts weren't running. They needed someone there before they could qualify for insurance. It is a fire waiting for a time to happen!!! I did that for one winter and then a job opened up as secretary-treasurer for the local school board. I applied and was hired in August of 1991. From 1991 to 2001 I also worked as a volunteer paramedic. We actually did emergency work for the first two years as "First Responders". We went to the scene and did what we could for the patient until the ambulance got there. Insurance would not allow us to transport the patient from the scene. We found that frustrating as the closest ambulance is just over an hour away. We applied to have our team become full fledged ambulance attendants and it was approved. We went through the additional training needed for that status and worked the following 8 years in that capacity. It is really restrictive and time consuming. Two people have to be on call for a minimum of 12 hour shifts, we usually did 24 hour shifts because it was easier given our other professions. People move in and out of this area given the job opportunities so our team changed or decreased over time. You also get a little burnt out on the restrictions. We were dispatched over radios for about 7 of the ten years. The range of the radios wasn't too big so you couldn't go too far! The last 3 years we operated, we had beepers which were much nicer to wear! Provincial regulations began changing in 2000 and all paramedics had until January 2004 to become EMCA certified. This entails completing a two year college course. Most of our team was not interested in going that far in this field, we all had other commitments. Team members started quitting and we couldn't get any new blood so the team had to fold and our ambulance station had to close here. It was a great experience and the training will never be wasted.

I am now down to one job! I am still secretary-treasurer/municipal clerk for this school board and area. I have 12 years experience here and plan to continue until Bob & I decide on something different.

Sadly, since I have seen anyone, I have lost both of my parents and my mother-in-law. Bob's Dad still lives on the family farm in Urbana, Ohio and is pretty healthy and very active in spite of his age, 90.

My immediate family is fairly large. I have 2 step-daughters (who let me claim them completely). They are both grown and successful in their own rights. Teresa is a cardiac nurse at Kettering Medical Center. She has 3 children, all whom are now grown. Rachel is 26, Reed is 25 and Evan is 23. I could be a great-grandmother but they have spared me that title just yet!! (Becoming a grandmother at age 26 was experience enough) Jennifer is now an attorney with Ernst & Young, Houston, TX. (She was an IRS Auditor! We love her anyway!!!) She has 2 children. Kathleen is 13 and Kelly Susan is 10. Both girls are very active and into competitive sports. More bragging on grandchildren in person, later!! We also have a foster daughter, Victoria, who lived with us for about 5 years. She came to us from Hagerstown, MD and completed her high school via Internet courses/home schooling. I found that I am NOT cut out to be a teacher!! She moved back to the states last fall and was working in Maryland for one of the childrens' homes she grew up in. That didn't work out as well as she had hoped and she moved to Ohio this past spring. She now works in a nursing home in Vandalia, Ohio and has her own apartment, car, boyfriend, etc. Life is normal for Vicky finally. Bob and I are once again alone. He is retired and has taken on more of the home duties while I continue to work at the school. We just celebrated our 29th anniversary and hopefully will have many more.

This was pretty long, but not too bad considering I have just covered 35 years, not just 5.

Name/phone number of someone who will know how to locate you if you move before our 40th Reunion. Ted Carter (brother), Tipp City, Ohio 937-667-7496 or Marcia Toyama (you have her number).

See you all on Friday.
